BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 17.—

While the result of today's game was never in doubt, the minor leaguers put up a good scrap, and frequently the Giants were forced to exert themselves to get enough runs to be safe.

It was the opening day for Birmingham, and fully 2,000 people flocked in to see the fray and note the improvement of the pennant-winning club, which got its spring start here last season.

Mathewson opened up for New York, and though his arm was in fair condition he declined the use of curves and stuck to straight balls, which cut the inside and outside corners. In the fifth inning he was relieved by Wilts, who did good work to the finish.

Gilbert was still too ill to play, and Strang took his place at second, putting up a scrappy game. Bowerman caught well, but was slightly handicapped in throwing by a bad arm.

First Inning.

Dwight went out on a grounder to second. Brown out, same route. McGinn flied out to short. NO RUNS.

Hafford was hit by pitcher. Hennessey forced Hafford out on a grounder. Matty making a quick play. Murdock struck out. Hennessey stole second. Vaughan flied out to Mertes. NO RUNS.

Second Inning.

Mertes grounded out to second. Dahlen flied out to left. Devil popped out to third. NO RUNS.

Mathews out. Dahlen to Mertes. Beautiful catch. Shippe hit line drive to left. Wagner walked. Ragan hit for two bags scoring Moore and Shippe. Hafford flied out to center. TWO RUNS.

Third Inning.

Strang flied out to center. Bowerman out, second to first. Matty out, same way. NO RUNS.

Hennessey struck out. Murdock flied out to Dahlen. O'Brien out on hot grounder to third. NO RUNS.

60,000 IN PARADE HONOR ST. PATRICK

Loyal Sons and Grandsons of Erin Reviewed by the Archbishop and Mayor—Banquets and Receptions To-Night to Complete City's Greatest Celebration of March 17.

With the President of the United States in town and dining to-night at the Hotel of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, the Ancient Order of Hibernians marching this afternoon in a parade of 60,000 strong and celebrating to-night at Madison Square Garden and Sulzer's Harlem River Casino; Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles reviewing the First Regiment of Irish Volunteers, commanded by Major Charles J. Crowley, at Grand Central Palace, and scores of Irish organizations holding banquets and receptions from Coney Island to the northern boundaries of the Bronx, certainly this is a great day for the sons and daughters and grandsons and granddaughters of the Emerald Isle.

Never in this city have such elaborate preparations been made to celebrate the festival of Ireland's patron saint. Whatever of differences may have existed heretofore are now buried and the tribute is unanimous. Church and laity, men of Irish birth and men of Irish descent are working side by side to establish St. Patrick's Day, 1905, as a date to be remembered for all time.

Church Service First.

The observance of the day opened with the celebration of high mass in all the Roman Catholic churches of the city. The Ancient Order of Hibernians attend these masses in regalia. At the Cathedral Pontifical high mass was attended by the Sixty-ninth Regiment, Bishop Cusick was the celebrant.

Major Edward P. Gilgar, grand marshal of the parade, and his aides, John Conroy and John J. Connolly, had arranged for a start at 2 o'clock promptly. The Sixty-ninth Regiment, under command of Col. Edward Duffy, and the First Regiment of Irish Volunteers, under command of Major Crowley, acted as escort of honor.

Following the military came the guests of honor of the A. O. H. riding in carriages. They are Mayor McClellan, Mr. Charles McCready, County Chaplain; Right Rev. Thomas Cusick, D. D.; Rev. Bernard A. Brady, William McAdoo, Charles F. Murphy, William Halpin and Justice Morgan J. O'Brien.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians had fully 60,000 men in line. The county and social organizations of Irishmen of the county of New York furnished 35,000. Military organizations, bands and cadet corps and a division of 2,000 boys brought the total number in the parade to 60,000 or more.

"Ireland's Own" in Line.

A feature of the parade was Ireland's Own Band, the greatest musical organization in Ireland. This is the band that created such a sensation at the St. Louis Fair, and has since been claiming the greatest enthusiasm throughout the United States.

The route of the parade was north on Fifth avenue to One Hundred and Twentieth street, east to Madison avenue, north to One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street and east to Sulzer's Harlem River Casino, where the celebration will begin. Mayor McClellan reviewed the great parade in Harlem and Archbishop Farley reviewed it from the steps of St. Patrick's. In addition

Wouldn't It Make You Think?

1. If you had been looking high and low for one of those imaginary "snap" positions, requiring little work and promising big pay—

2. And after a long hunt and the encountering of many disappointments you at length succeeded in securing a Government position as mail carrier—

3. And, after bragging to your friends about what a job you had found, you started to work for Uncle Sam last Monday morning with a light heart—

4. When, soon after reporting for duty, you were directed to deliver the answers to last Sunday's World Wants hearing box-number addresses, and if by actual count you found you had to carry 8,423 letters to the World office—wouldn't it make you think?

News is awaited with intense anxiety.
